

BODY NOT SHIPPED TO ROXBURY

Man Whose Remains Were Supposed to be in Coffin Was Arrested Last Night

WEINER "IDENTIFICATION" EXPLODED

Philadelphia Policemen Admit that the Case is More of a Mystery than Ever—Hyman Wiener, Murderer of Policeman Barnett, and Who was in Turn Shot by the Officer, is Alive and Well in a Police Cell at City Hall.

Philadelphia, Dec. 2.—The body of Hyman Wiener, the supposed murderer of Policeman Barnett, is not en route to Roxbury, Mass. This fact developed tonight when Wiener was arrested in the Tenderloin district and taken to the city hall. Who the man was who shot and fatally wounded Policeman Barnett and was in turn shot and killed by the officer, is still unknown.

Mystery Brought to a Climax.

The arrest of Alexander McDonald, who came to this city in company with Hyman Wiener, brought the climax to the mystery surrounding the identity of Wiener's body. McDonald had maintained from the first that he viewed the body in the morgue that it was not Wiener's, but the fact that Wiener's father and an attorney yesterday identified the body as that of his son, and that an uncle had also stated without reserve that the body was that of his nephew, started the police on a hunt for McDonald, and he was arrested later in the day and held without bail.

Net Spread for Wiener's Companion.

Policeman Barnett, before lapsing into unconsciousness, on the night of the shooting, made the statement that when he approached the man who had later identified as Wiener, the latter was accompanied by a heavy-set man, who ran away. As soon as Wiener's father identified the body, the detectives spread a net for McDonald, who had been Wiener's companion.

Told Police Where to Find Wiener.

He was found at his place of business and taken to the detective bu-

The extension of a similar measure to the remainder of France is under consideration.

NOISE HEARD IN SPARE ROOM OF THE GLOVER HOUSE

The Night of the Murder—Trial of Miss Hattie LeBlanc.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 2.—A noise was distinctly heard in the home of Mrs. LeBlanc, who was on trial tonight for the murder of her husband, Clarence F. Glover, came to his death by shooting, according to the testimony of the jury.

It was not until a few minutes before the trial of Hattie LeBlanc, charged with the murder of Glover, George J. Freeman of Newton, a friend of Mrs. Glover, who was called to the witness stand, testified that he had seen his wife for two or three days after the murder, told of hearing this noise, but said he did not investigate it. This testimony was given after a cross-examination by Melvin M. Johnson, the LeBlanc girl's attorney, but he was unable to make Mrs. LeBlanc's wife or Mrs. Glover herself to admit that they had seen any trace in the house of the presence of Hattie LeBlanc, who was found hiding under a bed in the spare room three days after the shooting.

Police Made Three Searches of House.

Mrs. Freeman admitted to Mr. Johnson that she had placed some furniture in front of the door of the spare room, but said she could not explain her motive. She and her husband told of the three searches of the house made by the police, saying that the house was thoroughly examined on the first two, which were futile. She said that the outside doors of the house were not guarded while the searches were going on.

Heard Mrs. Glover Apply Vile Epithets to Her Husband.

Attorney Johnson spent considerable time in trying to get Mrs. and Mr. Freeman to testify that Mrs. Glover had used profane or indecent language or expressions in denouncing her husband. Mrs. Freeman said she never heard Mrs. Glover speak in that manner, but her husband admitted that he had heard Mrs. Glover apply vile epithets to her husband.

Throughout the day Mr. Johnson continued the method which he had pursued from the beginning of the trial of directing his cross-examination against Mrs. Glover.

Property of Miss LeBlanc Found in Laundry.

In the late hours of the day's session several minor witnesses were called. One of these was a woman, who assisted in carrying Glover from the piazza into Dr. Cousen's hospital, and who was found in the laundry on the next day, and found there a cap and a pin which were later identified as belonging to Hattie LeBlanc.

Samuel D. Elmors, attorney for Mrs. LeBlanc, said that she had been in the laundry for many years, was on the stand when court adjourned for the day and had told of visiting the laundry on the night of the murder, and seeing an overturned chair there.

Aeroplane Fell Sixty Feet

SPECTATORS AT NEW ORLEANS RACE TRACK SHOCKED.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 2.—Augustus Post, the aviator, fell about sixty feet from his Curtiss biplane at the City Park race track today and was painfully bruised. Post was taken to his home, scratched, somewhat dazed and with some minor wounds. In making a turn he swooped too near the ground, the tail of his machine catching in a tree, sending the aeroplane heading to the earth. The machine was wrecked.

As the aeroplane fell, hundreds of spectators rushed to the scene, and a landing assistance in extricating the injured man. Tonight Post had almost recovered from his injuries and shock.

Graceful Glide of 1,000 Feet.

Ward, near the apex of a beautiful flight, narrowly missed having a bad accident. While his machine was at a height of six hundred feet the cap of the propeller struck the engine and against the propeller, damaging it somewhat. Ward landed safely, however. He was a 15-minute flight, circling four times about the course and ascending 3,000 feet. Ely and McCurdy made several interesting flights. A feature of which was the graceful glide of the former from a height of 1,000 feet.

Jockey Club Books Surrendered

TO NEW YORK GREAT INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

New York, Dec. 2.—The books of the Jockey club, an organization which absolutely controls and sanctions horse racing throughout the United States, were produced before the joint legislative investigating committee this afternoon and showed that in 1906, 1907 and 1908 the club expended $320,000 for legal services, advertising and maintaining a press bureau. This total was shown by entries from three accounts, numbered 1, 2 and 3.

All disbursements at Personal Direction of Belmont.

According to the entries, the heaviest expenditure came in 1907, the year preceding the passage of anti-betting bills. In that year by the entries the legal expenses of the Jockey club were $175,420. The year previous they were $38,642, and in 1908, the year in which the Hughes legislation finally passed by one vote, they were $52,500, paid out of a special fund.

Frank K. Storgis, treasurer of the Jockey club, testified that all these disbursements were at the personal direction of August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey club, and that $42,230 of the special fund was paid to E. P. Coyne, a lawyer recommended to the club by James W. Wadsworth, Jr., speaker of the assembly.

Metropolitan Jockey Association Kept No Books.

The books of the Metropolitan Jockey association, composed of makers of books on the races, were not produced as had been directed because John Evans, treasurer of the association, said that none were kept. He admitted in his testimony, however, that the association still has invested a fund of $120,000.

Pure Guesswork Says President Taft

SO DECLARED TO HIS CALLERS YESTERDAY.

Washington, Dec. 2.—President Taft, having his message out of the way, began today final consideration of his forthcoming appointments to the supreme court. His most extended judicial conference, however, was with Judge Sanborn of St. Paul, a member of the Fourth circuit. Judge Sanborn has been considered supreme court number himself, but has been eliminated from present consideration because of his participation in the Standard Oil decision. The president wanted to get some first hand information regarding various judges who have been suggested for promotion either to the supreme court or the court of commerce. Mr. Taft also talked at some length with former Attorney General Griggs of New Jersey, who was a member of the New Jersey state supreme court and Chancellor Pitney were discussed. The general impression was that the selection is made from New Jersey it will be Judge Swayzee.

Looking for First Hand Information.

Today the president talked with a number of senators and representatives. His most extended judicial conference, however, was with Judge Sanborn of St. Paul, a member of the Fourth circuit. "Banana Anna" Had Obtained $5,000 Damages from 17 Railroads.

New York, Dec. 2.—"Banana Anna," who has been on trial for the last four days, charged with having swindled the New York Central railroad, confessed in court today that she had obtained more than $5,000 damages from seventeen railroads by pretending that she had been injured by falls. The woman, known as Mrs. Anna Swayzee, formerly a boarding house keeper of Haverhill, N. J., said that she had an old wound which she could cause to look like a fresh injury.

Yonkers Central case. In other words, she said she had slipped on a banana peel, the presence of which on railroad property was the cause of her injury. With her confession the woman entered a plea of guilty and was remanded for sentence.

ANOTHER $10,000 FOR IRISH NATIONAL PARTY

To Help Fight the General Election Contest.

Boston, Dec. 2.—On the eve of the British elections tomorrow, the United Irish league of America, through its treasurer, Thomas B. Fitzpatrick of this city, forwarded today to the Irish national party another remittance of $10,000. This makes a total sent during the past six weeks of $60,000 of the "American dollars," which have caused adverse comment from a section of the British press. The money is being sent to help Mr. Redmond and the Irish national party to fight the general election contest, which is being fought on the basis of the "Irish question."

"Not for many years has there been such a generous and prompt response to the request of the Irish leaders for help in an electoral struggle as that which has been forthcoming on the present occasion."

"The denunciation of America and Americans by the Tory press has acted as an incentive to Ireland's friends here to help the cause along, such as nothing else could have provided."

REMARKABLE ABRIDGEMENT OF TIME AND DISTANCE.

New Telegraph Service, Known as Special Ocean Mail Service.

New York, Dec. 2.—It will be possible tomorrow for a merchant sailing in his San Francisco office to dictate an urgent letter to his stenographer in the morning with reasonable certainty that it will make a boat from New York for Europe on the same day.

This remarkable abridgement of time and distance becomes possible through a plan announced by the Western Union telegraph company, which is being put into effect tomorrow. The telegraph company has received a message would be received transmitted across the continent, at the usual rate, and the copy at this end placed in a special sealed envelope, addressed as directed, and rushed to any available steamship. The only extra charge will be five cents for postage.

The new service will be known as the special ocean mail service, and is an extension of the policy inaugurated with the night letter service. Night letter rates will apply to all matter sent during night letters. It is continued to the port of New York, and is available in either direction, from Chicago to Baltimore, or from Portland, Me., to New York, or from New York to Portland, Me., or from New York to Chicago.

The full address of the foreign correspondent and must be marked "Care Ocean Mail," New York, or whatever the port of destination may be.

trans-Atlantic letters it is estimated that approximately one week will be saved in either direction.

"The Morning Newspaper Is Absolutely Necessary"

The absolute necessity for the morning paper was thus tersely set forth by The Courant the other day, for continued. "The Courant," you've simply got to begin the day with a knowledge of what has happened. It does not take any argument to make any live man see this. There is no merit in proceeding in ignorance, for that is always more or less perilous when it is necessary. To begin the day right it is well to know what the day's program is, and as a forerunner of the future there is nothing that compares with the morning newspaper. It is able to give complete the happenings of yesterday and to give a brief summary of what is expected to take place today, both in the business and social world. The morning paper is a necessary part of a successful business without the aid of the morning advertiser and educator. This is what every morning newspaper is.

The advertising columns of the morning paper carry the commercial information which promotes economy in every household; and it is a good place for the seller of goods to be found making offerings when the buyer and consumers have their glasses on and are determining where it is best to trade. The morning paper is a necessary part of a successful business without the aid of the morning advertiser and educator. This is what every morning newspaper is.

One "Cost of Living" Item.

Ninety-five corn canning factories were in operation in Maine during the packing season this year, and the quality of the product was said to be above the average. Ten years ago the farmers were receiving $1.50 per one hundred pounds of corn as cut from the cob. The price was later raised to $2, and the present year contracts were made at the rate of $2.25 per one hundred pounds. The bill was later raised to $2, and the present year contracts were made at the rate of $2.25 per one hundred pounds. Toledo's Shrine.

The house in which Toledo died has become a shrine even before his burial. The fact reveals one of the reasons of the Russian government's well justified fear of his influence.—New York World.

An American has recently secured two concessions for supplying Mexican cities with gas. Both run for 50 years, during which time the plants are to be exempt from taxation.
